

Hi everyone! I'm going to put up a little activity or two every day that you can do as a family. I use these in my drama classes all the time and they work really well. They might keep the boredom at bay for just a little while. 😊

Activity 1:

Counting to ten as a family.

The entire family must count to ten together. Easy???? Think again. Only one person at a time can call out a number. If two people speak at once you have to start again. No cheating. No systems allowed it has to be completely random.

Top tip; take your time and try and rely on your intuition.

Good luck!
